Global South Dialogue on Economic Crime Inaugural Conference themed "Financial Crime Regulation: Perspectives from the Global South"

August 6, 2021

Global South countries continue to lose an immeasurable, though, significant amount of funds yearly to illicit financial flows (IFFs), notwithstanding improvements in global regulatory structures aimed at curbing financial crime. Consequently, it is critical to examine whether the current global regulatory framework is best suited to effectively combat financial crime in the Global South.

The Global South Dialogue on Economic Crime #GSDEC is therefore pleased to announce her inaugural Conference themed "Financial Crime Regulation: Perspectives from the Global South".

Join academic and practitioner experts as they explore a deep analysis of financial crime regulations in Global South Countries.
