Call for Application: Director of Programs at the Columbia Center on Sustainable Investment (CCSI)

By:

Columbia Centre on Sustainable Investment

May 4, 2022

CCSI is recruiting a Director of Programs as a member of CCSI's senior team. In collaboration with the CCSI Director, and working collaboratively with Senior Colleagues, the Director of Programs will support the development of effective strategies toward the achievement of CCSI's mission and strategic goals. In particular, the Director of Programs will help to identify a portfolio of impactful projects, ensuring that resources and programs are effectively and adaptively managed; will contribute a profound understanding of how to leverage research findings into concrete outcomes and impact; and will develop systems to ensure the research team has balanced workloads, strong motivation and workplace fulfilment. A longer description of the role, including key responsibilities and personal characteristics, is linked here.

Please apply at this link. Applications will be reviewed on a rolling basis.

View online: Call for Application: Director of Programs at the Columbia Center on Sustainable Investment (CCSI)

Provided by Afronomicslaw